LA PARISIENNE LIFE

GO ON AN ADVENTURE BY DISCOVERING TANIS AND HER NEW SONG LOSING MY MIND!

Author: Steph Musicnation – Date: 12 March 2016

After debuting last autumn with Ce N'est Moi (Its Not Me) a beautiful song played on the piano, songwriter-composer and performer Tanis is back.

To tide her audience over the few months left until her first album Blackout's release, Tanis has put out a new song called "Losing My Mind".

Her second single, this song has powerful lyrics that promote awareness of both the planet and environment.

If her first single focused on the artist's gentle side, this second one lifts the veil on another facet of her personality, revealing an artist who is engaged with the plights of the world around her.

Whether in French or English, this global citizen enchants her audience with these beautiful and moving songs.

The music video for "Losing My Mind" is a faithful representation of the current state of our world, here Tanis has chosen to make a strong song that will surely speak to everyone but which will truly resonate with all those who feel concerned for the future of our planet.
