Tanis reveals herself with “Losing My Mind”

Interviewer: Valérie – Date: 5 March 2016

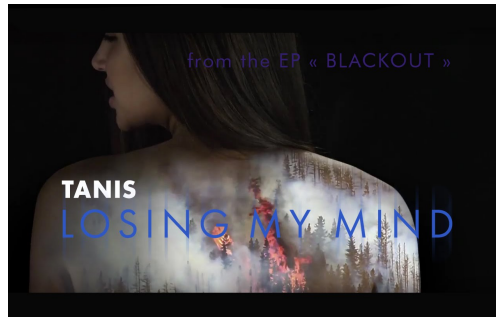

Tanis releases “Losing My Mind” her new single committed to the planet.

Tanis is back with a new single, “Losing My Mind”, which warns of the dangers of climate change with a burning passion that truly moved us. If you weren’t already aware, she is the daughter of writer-producer Jean Chalopin (The Mysterious City of Gold, Ulysse 31, Inspector Gadget, The Care Bears etc...) and Ethel Fong, a Singaporean top-model (Armani collection 1985, Chanel etc...).

Tanis is bright new talent, whose multicultural background and knowledge of multiple languages lend her an incredible maturity. Composer and singer from a young age, Tanis stuns us with the grace with which she performs “Losing My Mind”, a song anxious for a brighter future. Here’s hoping!

“Music is my way of expressing what I’m too timid to put into words, the feelings I ‘m often afraid to show and the love I wouldn’t know how to confess. Each song I write is a little piece of my life that I’ve never shared. My music is the bridge that connects my internal world to my external reality.” -Tanis
